What if I don't stay current? Certification is required to access provisioning. Current projects will not be affected if you do not maintain up-to-date certification, but you will not have access to provisioning for future projects. You may regain Associate Certification by completing the latest core exam, then staying current with all delta assessments. Provisioning access will be reinstated after completing the latest core Associate Certification exam. Consultants that held Professional Certification must reapply after completing the latest core exam.

What will happen if I skip one quarter's delta assessment?

- Consultants that skip a quarter will no longer hold a valid Associate Certification and need to re-take the latest Core Exam to become current. In addition, any corresponding Professional Certification would not be valid and the consultant will need to reapply.
- Consultants that do not have current certification cannot access provisioning for future customer implementation projects (current projects will not be affected).
- Delta assessments must be completed via SAP Learning Hub (partners) or Success Map Learning (SAP employees) within 90 days of new delta content release each quarter.

Will provisioning access for my current project be affected if I skip one quarter's delta assessment and no longer have current certification?

- Provisioning access for current projects will not be affected.
- However, consultants will not have access to provisioning for future projects unless they recertify.

How will I recertify if I lost current certification by skipping one quarter's delta assessment?

Associate Recertification:

- 1) Complete latest core Associate Certification exam through the Training and Certification Shop
- 2) Stay current by completing quarterly delta assessments as they are released moving forward.

Professional Recertification:

- 1) Complete latest core Associate Certification exam through the Training and Certification Shop
- 2) Reapply for Professional Certification with at least three SuccessFactors implementation projects from the past 30 months
- 3) Moving forward, stay current by completing quarterly delta assessments as they are released.

FAQ

Can I reapply for Professional Certification with the same three SuccessFactors implementation projects I used for my original application?

- The three projects listed on a Professional Certification application must have occurred in the past 30 months, so most consultants reapply with different projects than used for the original application to make sure projects fall within the 30-month window.

I am an internal SAP employee. Do I need to purchase the Certification in the Cloud subscription to complete the Associate Certification core exam?

- Yes. Navigate to the Training and Certification Shop to purchase the Certification in the Cloud subscription.
- SAP employee internal pricing is adjusted based on an individual's respective country, and charged to his/her cost center.

Are SAP SuccessFactors Academy Learning Rooms available 24x7?

- Yes, SAP SuccessFactors Academy Learning Rooms are available on-demand with SAP Learning Hub, Professional Edition.

Why can't I find a certification path for SAP Jam Academy or Introduction to SAP SuccessFactors Academy?

- Currently, there is no Associate Certification for SAP Jam Academy.
- Introduction to SAP SuccessFactors Academy is the required prerequisite to all product-specific Academy training courses to build a foundational knowledge of system configuration. Associate Certification is not offered, but all consultants should have completed the Academy course prior to product-specific training.

What is the difference between Associate Certification and Professional Certification?

- Associate Certification covers the fundamental knowledge requirements for an SAP SuccessFactors consultant to configure and implement solutions based on the content covered in Academy training.
- Professional Certification is the highest level of Certification and requires technical and practical experience to apply. Consultants must have completed 3 implementation projects in the past 30 months to submit an application.

- Learn more about SAP Learning Hub Editions here.

When will I be notified that I will not have provisioning access for future projects if I have not maintained current certification?

- Consultants that have not completed the delta assessment within 90 days of the initial announcement of new delta content will receive an email alert at the 90-day mark that they did not complete the assessment by deadline, and therefore have lost current certification and access to provisioning for future projects.
- Prior to the alert email, an email announcing new delta content and the 90-day deadline will be sent, in addition to an email reminder that 30 days remain to complete the assessment by deadline.

Where can I access quarterly delta content and assessments to stay current?

 - Confirmation (if applicable): Certification is current with the latest release because delta assessment has been successfully completed within 90-day timeframe.

I bought a Certification in the Cloud (CitC) subscription because I needed to take one SuccessFactors product-specific delta exam within the past year. How am I affected by the new "Stay Current" delta model?

- CitC subscriptions are still required to register for the proctored core Associate Certification exams, and you may apply the remaining exam attempts available with your CitC subscription toward any core Associate Certification exam in Certification Hub.
- Review the product-specific certification paths in this document to determine the next step for you to maintain current certification.
- An SAP Learning Hub subscription is required to complete delta exams with the new "Stay Current" model of certification.

Will my certification be revoked if I don't "Stay Current"?
